Factsheet #5

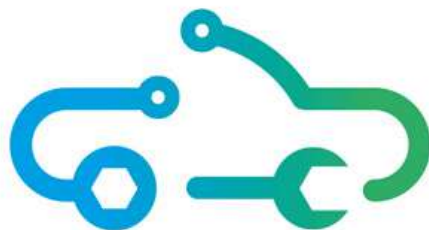

INSIGHTS OF THE AUTOMOTIVE SECTOR

STRUCTURAL CHANGES

DRIVERS OF CHANGE

Co-funded by the Erasmus+ Programme
of the European Union

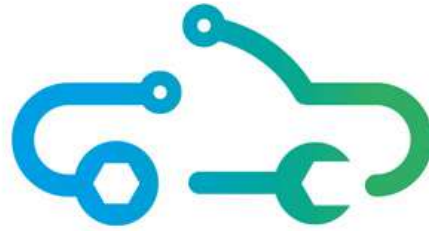

HIGHLIGHTS

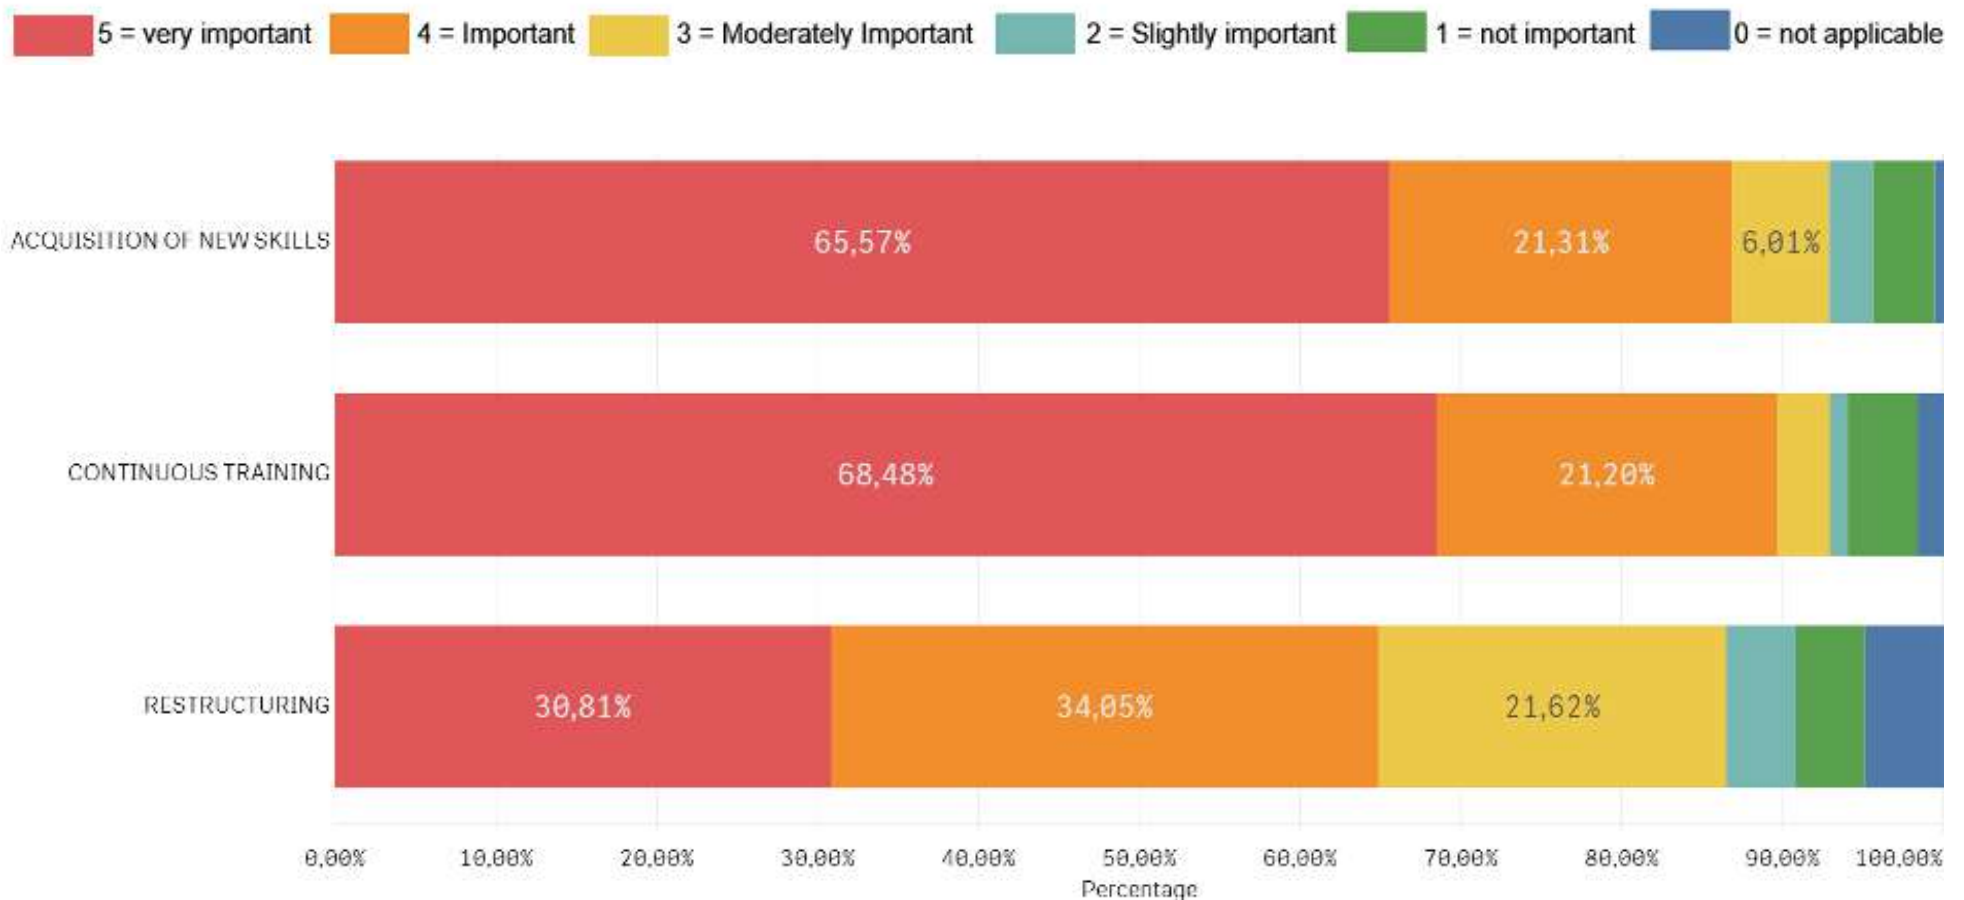

- 'Continuous training' and 'Acquisition of new skills' are similarly considered highly important and urgent by the automotive companies across the sector
- For SMEs, 'Continuous training' is the greatest concern, while for Large Companies the 'Acquisition of new skills' together with 'Restructuring' fill the top of the agendas

THINGS TO KNOW

- The transition to new technologies demands new skills and experience. Significant investment in overcoming skills mismatches will be fundamental. Restructuring and combining acquisition of new skills with the re-skilling and continuous training are featured in the planning.
- Sectoral Industrial Associations, with the natural overarching view, underline the importance of 'Acquisition of new skills' to keep up with competitiveness in the sector and the transformations towards zero-emissions and battery efficiency.
